My Lil sister-in-law. She knew the right things to say to get under my skin. But Kim was such a thoughtful person. One of the most thoughtful individuals I've ever met. Insightful, not full of pride or contempt. A warm giving soul. The first time I met Kim around 2003, she knocked on my door and when I opened it she said, "I wanted to meet the man my kids have been hanging out with and giving them chocolate!". Kim didn't play with her kids or with their nutrition. They needed a sitter (for their little kids back then), and since I worked nights and was off for a few days, my brother asked if I'd watch Emory and Cha-Cha. I laughed, and she laughed. And that's the way our relationship was. She was always understanding. Later, soon after Karis was born, they'd tell me stories of how my 1 yr old niece would stand on the baby swing and use it like a surfboard! Even though life was changing for them, they still opened their doors for me to stay with them for a month or two, before I headed off over seas. She was an excellent cook, surprisingly! I stole some of her style on some of that Italian food, to be honest! I still make it like I think she did! ...not as good though. When my wife and I had our first born through an unexpected medical emergency over 5 weeks early, who was is who had already gotten the key from brother and started fixing up our baby room for us cause we thought we had at least a month to go? That's who my sister-in-law's spirit is. They had the room perfect! I didn't even know some of that stuff was there, from the baby shower. She knew what to do and how to do it. To a first time mom and dad, that was a blessing! Thank you God for sharing one of your angels with us! Rest In Peace sweet soul. See you when we get there! Love you!

Never thought a goodbye would come this early in life. We were nowhere near being ready to not have you. I'm so sorry I'm not in town to attend your services but I pray for the emotional strength of everyone that will be there today, especially your family. I'm so glad to have captured some of these pictures of our time together ❤️❤️❤️. Love you Carter!!!!

My prayers and heartfelt sympathy go out to Kim's children, her grandmother, and the entire family. I met Kim for the first time on a trip to NOLA over 7 years ago, and that trip definitely would not have been the same without her presence. We laughed until our cheeks and stomachs hurt. I've seen Kim in a several occasions since that trip, and she has always been just as genuine and real as the day we met. We immediately became FB friends, and over the years I have thoroughly enjoyed reading adventures with her kids, nieces, and grandmother. This has been my constant source of laughter when I needed it most. I know Kim was a spiritual person. During this time of questioning, "Why, Kim?" I'm reminded of what my grandmother would always say, "HE only takes the best, and we must all go home one day." May she rest in Heaven until we meet again. Kim Jones

In addition to my last message I want to extend my deepest condolences to Kim's children, family and friends and to the love of Kim's life. I pray that the love she left in each of you is enough to help carry you through these difficult times. She was a warrior about her family and it breaks my heart that she is no longer here. Please let me know if there's anything I can do to help. Love you all.

My Carter, my Carter, my Carter. I can't express how blessed I was to know you. One of the hardest lovers and realest people I've ever met. I'll never forget when I invited you to Bahamas and with no passport and no hesitation you said "I'm in" and WE HAD A BALL!!! And let's not forget about New Orleans. That trip wouldn't have been the same without you. To know you was to love you and you left me with a million memories. Your loyalty came without question and your love came without limits. I appreciate every single moment together. I love you through every life time ❤️❤️❤️. Rest in heaven my dear friend.
